

IOS LISTERS CORNER 2002

Illinois Life List (minimum 250 species)

Due to a paucity of rare birds in 2002, there was little movement in the state list compared to 2001. This will likely change in 2003, as there were numerous vagrants in the state. Of those with over 300 state life birds, Bob and Karen Fisher's list grew the most with additions of 12 and 11 species, respectively. Noteworthy are Wes Serafin's and Christine Williamson's achievements of cracking the 350 barrier, truly a formidable task. Congratulations are also due to Ron Flemal, Alice Gregory and Jerry Kumery who were this year's new additions to the "300 club."

County Life Lists (minimum 150)

County Life Lists are one of the most actively kept lists in Illinois. Many birders will focus their birding efforts in just one or two counties over the course of a year (or even life). When birders keep lists for other counties, it can encourage them to visit those out of the way locations during the four seasons. As a result, many rare birds and new great birding locations within Illinois have been discovered.

Two very significant transitions occurred this past year in County listing. New names ascended to the top of two counties that have had the same leader since back in the 1980's! Congratulations to Bob Fisher for his achievement in passing long time Du Page list leader Eric Walters. For the first time in over a decade, a Du Page resident sits in the top spot. Back when Eric took over at the top (from Muriel Smith), he only had 256 species, so it shows how much listing growth and new bird species have visited that county. Along with this noteworthy news comes Bill Bertrand's Mercer County tally that passes by Pete Petersen's tally. Pete had been at the top of Mercer's list his whole life, up to his passing away. Congratulations to both Bob and Bill!

2002 Illinois Year List

There apparently weren't any focused attempts at doing an Illinois Big Year during 2002. However, that doesn't diminish Alan Stokie's list tally. He has annually had high tallies, so it seems appropriate that he spends time at the top of the heap in at least one year. The number in parenthesis indicates where that birder finished in the 2001 Big Year.

- 277 Alan Stokie (3rd)
- 268 Dan Williams (6th)
- 254 Cindy McKee
- 254 Eric Secker
- 253 Bob Fisher
- 252 John McKee
- 251 Tim Kuesel
