Month Lists: Top Three & Regional Top Five

All-time Illinois Big Months (top three per month)

There were three new Big Month records set during 2005, two by Doug Stotz and one by Eric Walters. When Eric broke his own record for May he also set a new all-time Big Month record of 234; six species higher than his 1997 tally! It seems that it might be possible to reach 240, as Eric missed five breeding species and there were very few vagrants that showed up last May. Eric's old record was the second oldest on the list, surpassed only by Todd Fink's January record. Doug broke Al Stokie's November record by six, too, but his total for August was 29 species higher than the former record, held for a year by Eric Secker. -Joe Lill

Regional Big Months (top five per region)

Month lists for the central and southern regions are most welcome. Does anyone bird Southern Illinois in November? -EW
