Total Counties per Species List

(Top eight totals per county - 102 possible counties)

For many people the mere thought of birding all 102 counties seems an impossible task, but every year the number of “completers” grows larger. With regards to American Robin, European Starling and Northern Cardinal, there are ten birders who’ve found them in every Illinois county. There are a number of Illinois birders who are actively pursuing certain species, and some that are simply trying to pile up as many species as possible in as many counties as possible. Good luck to all!
“Multiple observers” means that 10+ birders have reported the same total.
